

390 Research paper

Phytochemicals as antibiotic alternatives to promote growth and enhance host health by Lillehoj, H., Liu, Y., Calsamiglia, S. et al.

2018 Veterinary Research 49: s13567-018-0562-6

In Significant Impact Groups:

Feed / gut health \ Feed additives and supplements

Species targeted: Pigs;Poultry;Dairy;

Age: Not stated;

Summary:

Scientists from industry and academia and government research institutes shared their experience in developing and applying potential antibiotic-alternative phytochemicals commercially to reduce AGPs and to develop a sustainable animal production system in the absence of antibiotics.

390 Research paper - Lillehoj - 2018 - Phytochemicals as antibiotic alternatives to promote growth and enhance host health

Where to find the original material:

<https://veterinaryresearch.biomedcentral.com/articles/10.1186/s13567-018-0562-6>; 10.1186/s13567-018-0562-6

Country: USA